PARENT CONSULTATIONS

Our parent meetings across the grades have taken place this week and it is important that we connect to align the goals and expectations we have for our learners. I am confident that you have had a productive feedback session and have left feeling confident for the term ahead. It is our goal to have every learner achieve optimally in and out of the classroom. Should you require a further meeting with your teacher or you have missed this opportunity, simply email me and I will help you connect with your teacher.

EXTRAMURALS BEGIN

The start of term 2, brings with it the new extramural programme. I am confident that you have received the program and have selected the event/s your child will be participating in.. We have already secured fixtures for the term and will communicate that in due course, along with a rather exciting one coming up in May. I can't wait to share that with you.

D6 SCHOOL COMMUNICATOR

All our communication is now only available on the D6 app. If you have not downloaded it yet, then email me and I will assist you.

Book CORNER World Book Day

Where do you escape to, to lose yourself in a book?

Decorate your own little reading corner at home. Snap a picture of you in it and send it to us at ninke@ridgewaycollege.co.za and we'll share it on Facebook. We can't wait to see what you come up with!

BOOK CHARACTER DAY

Monday is the celebration of world Book Day and we have a special day planned for our children. They will be dressed up and we even have “the Book Shop” (our local Book Dealer) who will be on our campus, so learners may buy some books if they would like. I know I will be first in that queue, as I believe that a culture of reading leads to forward-thinking, 21st century adults.

THIS WEEKEND BRINGS AN END TO THE HOLY MONTH FOR OUR PARENTS FROM THE ISLAMIC FAITH AND I WOULD LIKE TO WISH ALL OUR MUSLIM FAMILIES EID MUBARAK.

A PEEK AT OUR WEEK - ECD

- Playtime.
- Who lives in Toyland?
- I learn about different types of toys.
- What are toys made of?
- Toys that can roll.
